RUNNING CAMP @ VIRGINIA TECH

MONDAY-SATURDAY, JULY 11-16TH 2022

About HPDA

HPDA is a week long, training-focused camp for high school-aged runners of all ability levels, held on Virginia Tech's beautiful campus in the mountains of Southwest Virginia. While at camp, athletes will run with collegiate distance runners on some of the best running venues Blacksburg has to offer, including the Virginia Tech Cross Country Course and the Jefferson National Forest. Beyond training, campers are instructed by experienced coaches, health professionals, and elite athletes on crucial topics like nutrition, injury prevention, biomechanics, race strategy, goal setting, weight and circuit training, sports psychology, and more. For more info, please visit crosscountryrunningcamp.com

Eligibility

Girls and boys entering grades 8-12, and graduated high school seniors may attend. Middle schoolers are also welcome provided they have a good training base. Campers will be grouped on training runs according to age and current fitness level. HPDA is not a Virginia Tech camp.

Housing & Dining

Campers will be housed in a Virginia Tech residence hall just like VT student-athletes, typically in two-person rooms with male and female campers occupying separate floors of the dorm. Meals will take place just a short walk away at D2, one of Virginia Tech's all-you-can-eat dining halls with an excellent variety of foods to choose from. Virginia Tech's dining halls have been consistently considered among the best in the country, and were ranked #1 in the nation in 2015 by three separate publications.

Training at HPDA

Training is based on individual fitness—our goal is for you to leave camp healthy, motivated, and ready to tackle your best cross country season yet. The week will include two-a-day runs along with circuit exercises, plyometrics, and daily strength training to help diversify your training regimen. For those seeking lower mileage, yoga sessions and/or pool workouts can replace the morning run. The week will take us all over the New River Valley—in previous years campers have cruised the trails of the Jefferson National Forest, run to the top of Mountain Lake, tubed the New River, hiked the Cascades, swam Claytor Lake, and toured Virginia Tech's beautiful all-grass cross country course. Between training runs and educational sessions, campers have plenty of free time to rest, play games, or just hang out with new friends.

Counselors

Our past counselors have included conference champions, NCAA All-Americans, and sub-4 milers. All have competed at the collegiate level for many great universities including Virginia Tech, Georgetown, Stanford, University of Virginia, William and Mary, Wake Forest, Clemson, High Point, Florida State, and many more. In addition to our counselors, we also have several experienced high school coaches assisting the athletes.
